Mr. NEUBERG has much pleasure in bringing the above manufactory prominently to notice, it being as he believes the first of its kind in India, and respectfully solicits the favor of an inspection of the different brands above enumerated.

He submits, that in point of design, elegance of finish, and general get up, they are unapproachable,—rivaling those from the best known Continental manufactories,—and he invites the true criterion of excellence,—Public trial,—with confidence.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, 10TH FEB. 1877.

CONSOLS remain at 95⅞; French Rentes at 106.

Piece Goods in Manchester continue quiet at unchanged prices, but the Liverpool Cotton Market yesterday was firmer, the sales reaching 15,000 bales, and to-day, according to Reuter, has been active, sales again 15,000 bales. Quotations are unchanged with the exception of a recovery of 1-16d per lb. in Mid Orleans, and to arrive there is more disposition shown to buy although not at higher prices. It is somewhat difficult to assign a reason for this improved feeling, as the receipts at the American ports for the week ending on Friday were 28,000 bales over the corresponding week last year, and the total from 1st September to date is 105,000 bales ahead of last season, with no immediate prospect of the difference being diminished. In all probability, the increased activity is mainly due to a resumption of buying on the part of the trade, who have taken very little for the past three weeks and must therefore be getting low in stock. If this assumption is correct, the improvement is not likely to go very far unless supported by a falling off again in the receipts, as prices are now at a point from which we are not likely to see much of a rise unless speculation intervenes.

The latest telegrams from New York still quote ready Mid.Uplands at 12¼ cents. per lb., but may shipment has advanced to 13 9-16 cents., a rise of ¼ cent. per lb. The receipts at the ports now show the following comparisons with previous years :—

	1877.	1876.	1875.
Week's Receipts	144,000	118,000	104,000
,, Exports to U. K.	74,000	76,000	54,000
,, ,, to Continent	36,000	51,000	19 000
Total receipts since 1st Sept.	3 288 000	3,182,000	2,730 000
,, Exports to U. K. ,,	1,322,000	1,161,000	1,697,300
,, ,, Continent ,,	628,000	704,000	440,000
,, Stock at the Ports	990,000	997,000	848,000

This week.	Last week.
Saturday's Receipts 15,000	27,000 16,000 15,000

The visible supply of Cotton for all Europe on the 8th instant compares with the previous two years as follows:—

	1877.	1876.	1875.
Total supply of all kinds	2,850,000	2,918,000	2,808,510
,, ,, ,, Surats	220,000	446,970	611,700

For the U. K. only the figures are :—

Stock in Liverpool	839,000	792,930	768,080
Do. London	33,000	68,980	134,210
American Afloat	466,000	265,000	298,000
E. Indian ,,	57,000	83,000	129,000
	1,320,000	1,209,910	1,329 890
Price of Mid. Orleans	6 13-16d.	6¾d.	7 15-16d.
,, Fair Dhollera	5 9-16d.	4¾d.	6¾d.
Difference	1¼d.	2¾d.	2 11-16d.

The London Coffee Market yesterday was quiet with a decline of 1s. per cwt. in Mid. Plantation Ceylon. Seeds and Cocoanut Oil are unchanged.

A further withdrawal of £100,000 from the Bank of England for France is reported, making £225,000 withdrawn since last return.

Bar Silver in London is still quoted at 57d. per oz., equivalent to 1s. 9¾d. per rupee.

STERLING EXCHANGE here to-day has been firmer at a recovery of 1-16d. to ⅛d., equivalent to yesterday's decline. There is nothing, how ever, on the surface of things to account for the movement, beyond the reaction which generally takes place after every rapid fall, in the meantime there is very little business doing, few private bills are making, and funds are accumulating in the hands of the Banks to an extent which renders any important rise in Exchange, very unlikely. We quote :—

Bank Bills, on demand	1s. 0⅞ to 13-16d. per Rupee.
Do 6 months' sight	1s. 10 1-16 to ⅛d.
Credits, 3	,,	1s. 10¼d	,,
Documents, 3	,,	1s. 10⅛ to 3 16d.	,,

On Calcutta some business has been doing in demand drafts at 3 16 to ⅛ premium, but 60 days' sight is nominal at 98⅛ to 99.

GOVERNMENT PAPER is comparatively firm and rates, if anything, are the turn higher, the easier appearance of the Money Market rendering buyers more willing to operate. We quote Fours Rs. 98 to Rs. 98½; Fours and-a half Rs. 98½ ; Fives-and a-half Rs. 101½.

The SHARE MARKET is quiet, and, with the exception of a partial slight improvement in Spinning and Weaving Shares, generally unchanged. Bank of Bombay's are steady at 38 per cent. premium ex-dividend, Agra Bank have receded to Rs. 102. Land Companies are unchanged, as also are Press shares, with the exception of a further drop of Rs 5 in Mofussil Company. In Spinning and Weaving we notice an advance of Rs. 5 in Broach, Mills Fleming, Hindoostan, Khandeish, and Oriental, Rs. 10 in Alexandra and Great Eastern, and Rs. 14 in Maneckjee Petit.

In COTTON we have had a very stupid market with next to nothing doing. On the one hand, sellers looking to the slightly firmer advices from home, and the unfavourable crop accounts from up-country, have been unwilling to do business unless at an advance of Rs. 1 to Rs. 2 per candy, while buyers, except to cover previous sales, decline to pay the rates. A considerable exists for ready Cotton to tender against contracts, the slow rate of arrivals owing to the delay on the part of the G. I. P. Railway putting dealers and up-country agents to great straits occasionally to meet their engagements, a state of things likely to exist with Omrawuttee Cotton throughout the season. Yesterday's arrivals were about the largest we have had any day this season, 5,376 bales made up chiefly of Jalgaum, Khangaum, Omrawuttee, and Hingunghaut descriptions. Quotations as near as can be given are :—

Best Hingunghaut, ready		Rs. 213	per candy fp.
,, Ginned Broach, March		,, 212	,,
,, Akote	,,	,, 200	,,
Good Omra.	,,	,, 193	,,
F. G. F.	,,	,, 196	,,
G. F.	,,	,, 193	,,
Good Dhollera	April	,, 202	,,
F G. F.	,,	,, 198	,,
G. F.	,,	,, 194	,,

FREIGHTS are quiet but steady at previous rates. viz—for Liverpool via Canal £2-3-9 to 10. 2-5 ready, £2-2 6 forward shipment. By sail there is still no business to report although there is a small amount of cargo offering.

PIECE GOODS are a shade steadier to-day, but that is about all that can be said for the market as the demand from up-country is still very limited and clearances proportionately small in everything except white goods for which there is a fair enquiry at low rates.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1877.

THE special telegram from our London correspondent which we publish this morning defines the position of political parties at home with perfect clearness and precision. By "the Opposition," however, who desire a vain thing in asking that united Europe shall coerce Turkey to accept the proposals of the Conference, must be understood only that section of the Liberal party, consisting of philosophical Radicals and Manchester men who accept the leadership of Mr. Gladstone. The aristocratic Whigs hold themselves aloof, and Radicals of Sir Charles Dilke's stamp, who are practical politicians, distrust Russia as strongly as any Tory can do. It is to be hoped that a division will soon show how strong the Ministry really is in the House of Commons.

THE suppression by the Government of India of the Secretary of State's despatch on the subject of the Bombay Revenue Jurisdiction Act is a deplorable illustration of the real weakness of a system of administration as arbitrary as that of the Great Mogul. The knot of middle-aged gentlemen at Calcutta who love to fancy themselves Cæsars, when, in fact, they are ordinary official hacks, and who believe they can rule the Indian Empire by issuing decrees which are hateful to the people, have no support in public opinion to enable them to withstand the censures of the Secretary of State. A straightforward and capable Government, whose legislation was "broad-based upon the people's will," could afford to admit a fault and to be fearless of criticism; but the Government of India has chosen of late years in the conduct of measures brought before its Legislative Council to treat with disdain the arguments and prayers of all persons likely to be affected by the laws it was bent on passing, and now, when the Secretary of State, on whom alone it relied, refuses to countenance its despotic action, it finds itself left standing helpless and alone, and dares not make known to the public the mortifying rebuke it has received. The despatch in which Lord Salisbury virtually disallows the Revenue Jurisdiction Act was sent out to this country at the end of last October; and it must therefore have been in the hands of the Government of India for nearly three months. The India Office authorities will, we believe, be greatly surprised to hear that so important a despatch remains unpublished to this day. The Government of India might with equal fairness keep secret a new law, for Lord Salisbury's despatch is to all intents and purposes a law in itself, inasmuch as it conveys distinct instructions to the Government of Bombay to treat the Revenue Jurisdiction Act as non existent and to go on referring to the High Court all cases which would have been referred before the passing of the Act, until the Government of India repeals the objectionable clauses depriving men who claim exemption wholly or in part from the payment of land revenue of their right of appeal to a Civil Court against having their property subjected to an increased assessment at the pleasure of able revenue officers. Lord Salisbury frankly states that he would have formally disallowed the Act at once, if he had not thought that the part of it defining the powers of the Civil Courts was useful after the misunderstanding caused by the decision in the Ratnagherry case. It was a mistake to suppose that the Judges ever claimed the right of interfering to regulate the assessment of a district; and a definition which shuts them out from attempting such interference does not therefore touch their dignity or rights. What they claimed, and what the Government of Bombay and the people were anxious they should retain, was the privilege of sitting in appeal to prevent revenue officers of the Empson and Dudley type from confiscating landed property. Lord Salisbury emphatically declares that in the public interest the Civil Courts ought to retain this privilege. In answer to the argument that the Act only gave the revenue officers in the old provinces of Bombay powers such as revenue officers enjoyed elsewhere in India, the Secretary of State lays down the important rule that laws or customs suited to the circumstances of particular localities should not be abrogated for the sake of securing uniformity of procedure throughout India; and he justly insists on the iniquity of taking away from the landholders of the old provinces of Bombay a right of appeal which they had possessed for more than half a century and which had worked well all that time. His Lordship, however, reserves his severest comments for the obstinacy of the Government of India in thrusting this Act upon Bombay in spite of the remonstrances of the Executive Government and the Judges of the High Court of this Presidency. He remarks that the Legislative Council contained only one member (Mr. Hope) who knew anything of Bombay, and that it was therefore at an obvious disadvantage in trying to legislate for this Presidency and should have had the modesty and good sense to listen to the almost unanimous remonstrances of the Government and people of Western India. Nay, he goes further; for he says that he can remember no precedent for the passing of an Act of merely local application in defiance of the opinions expressed by the highest Executive and Judicial officers of that locality. This authoritative limitation put on the powers of the Legislative Council of India shows that Lord Salisbury is personally favourable to decentralization and encourages us to hope that he will be most indignant at the unworthy treatment the Bombay Government has recently been exposed to in the matter of its Famine policy.

WHILE the attention of Europe is being concentrated on affairs in Turkey there is a probability of Russia's intrigues in Central Asia and Persia being overlooked, or at all events not receiving that attention which they deserve. We have shown in former articles that there is mischief brewing in Affghanistan, Russian diplomacy being probably at the bottom of it; and it would now appear from a letter dated Teheran, December 14th, which appears in an English contemporary, that there are signs of uneasiness in Persia which are all set down to Russian influence. Mr. Arthur Arnold recently wrote a book on Persia, narrating the result of his observations in the course of a journey through that country; and in it he expressed the opinion that English influence has almost entirely disappeared so far as the north of Persia is concerned, and that it is only as far south as Shiraz and as far west as Kermanshah that English influence begins. The correspondent whose letter we refer to agrees in Mr. Arnold's political views, and says it is undoubtedly the case that at the present moment Russian influences have the ascendant in the Shah's Court. That Persia is alive to her interests in the Eastern Question is apparent from the telegram which reached India a few days ago, informing us that in consequence of England having declared that she will observe neutrality in the Turkish complications the Shah has announced that he will follow a pacific policy towards Turkey "unless Russia should exercise "strong presure." It is difficult to say precisely what such a telegram means, inasmuch as one might suppose that it does not much matter whether Persia resolves to shape her policy in accordance with that of England; but the general fact may be gathered from it that Persia and Russia have come to some common understanding adverse to Turkey. In this view Persia's attitude is not without importance, as, since there can be no doubt the Czar is now stirring every particle of power he possesses in Asia to further his projects in Eastern Europe, the accession of Persia to his ways of thinking must add to Turkey's weakness and in inverse proportion to Russia's strength. It is only about two years ago since the Shah made the grand tour of Europe, and England vied with the Court of St. Petersburg in giving him a liberal reception; but if the Ministers of England hoped by this means to bribe Nasir ud-Deen's good will, they are likely to see how little dependence there is to be placed upon the services of adulation for acquiring the esteem of a semi barbarous and supremely conceited Asiatic sovereign. Russia has bid higher than mere festivities; and Persia's hint that in case of Russia putting strong pressure upon her she will throw her arms into the scale against Turkey is in our own opinion only another way of intimating that in the event of Russia and Turkey coming to blows the latter need not expect any assistance, but rather the opposite, from her Asian colleagues in Mahomedanism. It is of course impossible to say what is the precise bid which Russia has made for Persia's friendship; but it is as well not to forget that already Persia has chosen to venture war with England twice because she wanted to make encroachments upon the frontiers of Beloochistan and Affghanistan, and that there are provinces on the south bank of the Attrek which she would still like to secure, and over the disposal of which she may reasonably imagine, in consequence of England's apparent indifference to the course of Central Asian events, Russia to have the final and all optent voice. During the last few months Persia has been repairing her armaments. She has despatched one Jehanghir Khan to Europe to contract a loan and buy arms. Her arsenals are gather, ing in old cannon and rifling them, besidecasting new guns. Her troops are being actively drilled, artillery practice is said to be frequent. military colleges are being opened in the large towns, an entire regiment is being trained in engineering under the command of a European officer (Russian most, probably), and the fortifications of Teheran are about to be completed. It is also said that 10,000 old Chassepots are being converted into more serviceable weapons. The Shah is bestirring himself with his troops, often visiting the drill ground while they are practising, busying himself with his artillery, and superintending the works which are going on in the arsenal. The Persians are astonished at this sudden development of military activity, and according to the Pall Mall Gazette's correspondent, who thinks that Russian intrigue is at the bottom of it all, the unfortunate people, who will ultimately have to pay dearly for the Shah's politics, are anxiously inquiring what the meaning of it can be. We have often commented on the want of vigour which England has displayed in Asian politics beyond India, and the mischief which such inertness has done to English influence seems to be as visible in Persia as it has been elsewhere. Her want of enterprise in Asia has always compared unfavourably with Russia's sleepless energy, and there is good reason to believe that had her representatives in Persia been more zealous and less easy-going Russia could not have obtained that predominance over the Shah which there is good reason to believe she has gained. The Pall Mall Gazette's correspondent says "it is simply "England's inactivity which has allowed Russian "influences to become ascendant in Persia," and then he gives reasons for his belief. A REPORT comes from Delhi that the Niram of Hyderabad, Deccan, during his stay at Delhi, contributed Rs. 21,000 to several tombs and mosques.

NOT many months ago defalcations were discovered in the Lahore Treasury. We now read in the Indian Public Opinion the following question:—"Why is nothing heard now of the defalcations lately discovered in the Lahore Treasury? Has sufficient enquiry yet been made?"

WE are relieved to hear, says the Pioneer, that the rumoured abolition of the Sealkote and Rawul Pindee Brigades is unfounded. The good things of military service in India are few enough already, even if a proportion of ten brigadiers to more than 80,000 men were not the minimum consistent with administrative efficiency.

A COMPANY has been started at Delhi called the Delhi Ancient Treasure Company. The object of the Company appears to be the seeking [illegible] den treasure and the purchase of old [illegible] s in and about Delhi for the sale of building[illegible] such as bricks, stones, &c. The materials [illegible] rights as regards hidden treasure Company's [illegible] ated under the existing law of will be regula[illegible]s contained in Regulation V. of treasure trove [illegible]al of the Company is said to [illegible]817. The capit[illegible] be only Rs. 40,000.

A YOUNG officer of th[illegible]e 60th Rifles, stationed at Meerut, lately won a be[illegible]n twenty-four hours, officers, by walking [illegible] We do not know, says from Delhi to that place. [illegible] distance in miles a Lahore paper, the exact [illegible] unusual pedestrian between the two places, but [illegible] the day, and the feats appear to be the order of [illegible]lieve, heretofore officer in question has not, we be[illegible] or such endu- been remarkable for manly vigour, [illegible]s friends in rance as would justify him or h[illegible]y investing largely on his staying pow[illegible]y.

THAT preparations on a great scale can continue for months without any adequate purpose is of course an absurd assumption; and from the length of time consumed in making them and the secrecy observed regarding their object, we should infer, says the Civil and Military Gazette, that a step graver in intention and result than a frontier expedition is contemplated. If we could hope that a British Army of a size and equipment worthy of the Indian Empire could be placed in the field in Central Asia on the flank of any Russian advance, we might then assure ourselves that the pageant which heralded the new year was truly the inauguration of an Imperial policy.

THE Whitehall Review has a paragraph which has occasioned some astonishment. It is announced that an appointment on the home staff which fell vacant recently was refused by more than twenty officers to whom it was offered, and that as a last resource it was given to a field officer on the Indian establishment who, strictly speaking, was ineligible. The truth of this statement is questioned, says the London correspondent of the Civil and Military Gazette, but, he adds, I have reason, for knowing that it is perfectly correct. The appointment was that of Deputy Judge Advocate at Dublin; the officer who was given it being Major Brett, 43rd Light Infantry.

THE Statesman says:—"If Lord Lytton is wise he will come to a frank and cordial understanding with the whole press, as to the information to be placed at its disposal. It is the attitude of the Government that makes the attitude of the Press. Sympathise with us and help us, and we shall reciprocate the feeling. Some one or other has communicated quite recently to the Pioneer important papers that have been kept back from the rest of the Press, e. g., the confidential reports concerning Durbhungah and Behar; and the presence of certain Turkish envoys in India, on their way to Central Asia. Now this must be put an end to, if the Press is to maintain friendly relations with the Government."

A CORRESPONDENT writes to a Calcutta paper:—"The storm of Sunday last seems to have been a little cyclone. From Hooghly Point to Saugor, both sides of the river are now a desolation. In the district of Diamond Harbour houses were blown down, and 100,000 plaintain trees are said to have been destroyed. At Saugor four tow-boats containing eight dandies and one sircar each, waiting for ships coming up, are entirely lost. At Diamound Harbour several boats lost; two men only, among the crew and passengers, survived, reaching shore naked. The steamer plying between Calcutta and Ooloobariah sunk. The water rose very high." There seems to have again been considerable atmospheric disturbance in Eastern Bengal. Great loss of boats and property is reported from Goalundo. Fifty boats are said to have been sunk and several lives lost.

MEXICAN generals are generally imagined to be needy adventurers who make it the object of their ambition to win fortune rather than fame by the sword, and embark in revolutions not from disinterested motives but with an eye to profit. General Diaz, however, appears to be an example of a self-denying patriot. Although now a poor man, he inherited, it is stated, a very large fortune, and has practised total abstinence from luxuries to a degree "to make an anchorite stare." A couple of bananas and a handful of dry, parchment-like pancakes, with a drink of such water as the season affords, are enough to make him a dinner, and no rock is so hard or highland so chilly that he cannot sleep soundly without other bedding than his old cloak. His own wants during his life have cost him perhaps 4,000 or 5,000 dollars—the wants of his country more than 1,000,000 dols. of his private property.

THE Civil and Military Gazette says that the blockaded tribes, after a short period of quiescence, have recommenced their old habits of firing at the Fort Garrents, and the police tower near it. This is done out of pure effrontery, as they are well aware their shots can do no harm to the Garrisons inside. They are meditating an attack on Kohat itself, at least information to that effect reached the authorities a few days ago. Measures were accordingly taken to frustrate the attempt, and whether the Afreedees knew of this and did not come down in consequence, or only meant it as an empty threat to fluster people, cannot of course at present be said. The police force is to be augmented; already Captain Tucker, with 50 men, has arrived, and 100 more are en route to Kohat. They will prove a welcome addition, as, what with guarding Commissariat convoys and stores, and strengthening the various towers, the duty has been very heavy of late for the police."

THE following items of news are from Indian Public Opinion:

CABUL.—We hear that the Ameer intends to have all his dominions surveyed in order to bring them under regular settlement. An experienced Patwaree and some surveyors have accordingly been asked for from Peshawur. The Russian Agent is still in Cabul, waiting to hear the answer which Sayad Noor Mahamed Khan will receive from Sir Lewis Pelly with regard to the matters pending between them. The Wahabees of the Black Mountain have sent their emissaries to Cabul and have expressed a wish to tender their services to the Ameer at any time that he may go to war against any infidel nation. The Ameer has accepted their proposals with delight and has sent back the agents with the full assurance that they will be called upon at the time of need. The weather is extremely cold, rendered so most probably by the unusual fall of snow which has taken place this time.

KOHAT.—We hear that very recently the Commesioner of Peshawur was asked by the Provincial Government whether he would accept the services of a body of Cis-Indus Police, some 500 foot, and 50 horse, to guard the various passes leading into Kohat, and to coerce or co-operate against the Afreedees. The Commissioner declined the services of the country people, but urged that the military should be employed to guard the large passes. It was subsequently arranged that a conference should take place on the matter, the Commissioner being enabled to give his views in detail for the rejection of the services of the Cis-Indus Police and his preference of the country-people. We trust the Lieutenant-Governor's journey to Peshawur will not prove a fruitless one, as regards the speedy and effectual coercion of the Afreedees who are proving themselves daily more and more troublesome.

THE Pioneer publishes the following characteristic reply to the despatch of the Bombay Government, the writer of which is easily recognised:—

The Bombay Government may very likely be sorry it spoke by this time,—sorry that it published the correspondence which passed between itself and the Government of India in reference to the management of its famine relief works during the month of October. The publication, it will be remembered, took place quite recently, the Undeniably those despatches showed that the local Government was for a time held in check by President in Council, while the Viceroy was away on his frontier tour, in reference to certain matters about which, when Lord Lytton, assisted by Sir John Strachey, went into the subject at Bombay, the views of the Bombay Government were upheld. That local Government seems not to have been able to resist the temptation of explaining its victory to the world at large. But à quoi bon? The Government of India has been very dignified in return, and has not retaliated on the Bombay Governor in any way. It might easily have found a way, if it had pleased, because after all, in spite of the medieval and tiresome privileges which the Bombay administration enjoys, it would be a mistake to regard the administration as otherwise than subordinate to the Supreme Government of India like those of the North-West or the Punjab. Nothing in connexion with this little episode would be less surprising than a demonstration on behalf of the principals on the part of the Secretary of State, which indeed seems the only result likely to ensue from Bombay's indulgence in the luxury of a dig at its superior officer.

THE Amrita Bazar Patrika twits his native brother editor of the Hindoo Patriot in the following remarks for his want of moral courage:—"The manner in which the editor of the Hindoo Patriot has treated Babu Shurendro Nath Banerjea, his representative at the Delhi Durbar, is intensely interesting. The Babu, at a late meeting of the Corporation, objected to certain passages in the loyal address from the Commissioners to the Empress. He was violently assailed by some of the European Commissioners and one of them went to the length of calling him disloyal, Now it so happens that the editor of the Hindoo Patriot was present at the meeting. When Babu Shurendra Nath was assailed, the editor saw the scene, with what feeling Heaven knows, but apparently with philosophic indifference. But in his capacity as editor, he hurls his thunders upon the devoted head of the poor chairman, who was so far agreeable as willing to meet the wishes of Babu Shurendra Nath half way. Why did not the chairman protect Shurendra Nath from insults, thunders forth the editor? Assuredly it was his duty; but may we inquire why did not the editor himself come to his rescue? He, however, anticipates this question and says, it was not 'cowardice' that prevented him, but he did not choose to be assailed as the Babu was. So it was not cowardice, oh no; he knew, that if he had gone to defend the Babu he would have assailed likewise, and thinking in his mind that discretion is the better part of valour, he allowed his friend, without a protest, to be roughly handled. If the chairman did not protect the Babu, the commissioners might have protected him, but the editor did it not, not that it was owing to cowardice, he was only afraid. Now when at a safe distance he bewails over the fate of his ill treated friend and moves heaven and earth with his cries of sympathy and condolence."

ON Thursday evening, January 11, Colonel Evelyn Wood, V.C., C.B., Assistant Quarter-master-General, delivered a lecture at the Prince Consort's Library, Aldershot, on "The Passes of the Balkan and the Passage of the Danube." The chair was occupied by Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Steele, K.C.B., commanding the division. Colonel Wood commenced his lecture by alluding to the principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia, and the important part they occupied in the present aspect of affairs, and more particularly the position of Bucharest and Jassy, two cities of considerable importance in the present crisis. Speaking of the province of Roumania, he said, although it had only a population of 4,000,000, it could easily supply double that number with food if they did not export it, and in that case a Russian army of 250,000 men would have no difficulty in finding subsistence in that province. As to the difficulties of a Russian invasion of Turkey, the river Danube was the principal obstacle. On the left or Russian side it was approachable only by a long low coast of muddy and marshy land, while on the right or Turkish side there was a precipitous and steep bank, which continued for many miles. The width of the river through the Turkish territory, too, varied from 1,400 to 2,000 yards, the depth differing according to the season. Another great obstacle to Russian invasion was the range of Balkan mountains, the passes in many cases being little more than footpaths, and the roads through Bulgaria being few and bad. The soil, however, is rich, and produces abundant crops; the meat supply also would be plentiful owing to the difficulty of exportation. Colonel Wood then pointed out the natural advantages of Widdin, Silistria, and Schumla as fortresses, and the importance of the railways from Varna to Rustchuk, and quoted the writings of the late Sir John Burgoyne as an authority on the defences of Constantinople and its approaches. Comparing the relative strength of the Russian and Turkish fleets and armies, he said that Russian advantages were more apparent than real, but that if they could cross the Danube and the Balkan Mountains they might advance on to Adrianople, and from thence to Constantinople.

AN article in Colburn's New Monthly Magazine discusses Russia's ambition. The writer says:—"Alexander wrote to Napoleon, 'I offer you the half of Europe. I will help you to obtain it, secure you in the possession of it; and all I ask in return is the possession of a single strait, which is also the key of my house.' Napoleon, according to O'Meara, in his 'Voice from St. Helena,' replied thus:—'In the course of a few years Russia will have Constantinople, the greatest part of Turkey, and all Greece. This I hold to be as certain as if it had already taken place. Almost all the cajoling and flattering which Alexander practised towards me was to gain my consent to effect this object. I would not consent, foreseeing that the equilibrium of Europe would be destroyed. In the natural course of things, in a few years, Turkey must fall to Russia. The greatest part of her population are Greeks, whom you may say are Russians. The powers it would injure, and who would oppose it, are England, France, Prussia, and Austria. It will be very easy for Russia to engage Austria's assistance by giving her Servia and other provinces bordering upon the Austrian dominions which extend towards Constantinople. The only hypothesis that France and England may ever be allied with sincerity will be in order to prevent this. But even this alliance will not avail. France, England, and Prussia united cannot prevent it. Russia and Austria can at any time effect it. Once mistress of Constantinople, Russia gets all the commerce of the Mediterranean, becomes a great naval power, and God knows what may happen. She quarrels with you (England), marches an army to India an army of seventy thousand good soldiers, which to Russia is nothing, and a hundred thousand canaille Cossacks, and others, and England loses India. Above all the other Powers, Russia is the most to be feared, especially by you. Her soldiers are braver than the Austrians and she has means of raising as many as she pleases. In bravery the French and English soldiers are the only ones to be compared to them. All this I foresaw. I see into futurity farther than any other, and I wanted to establish a barrier against those barbarians by re-establishing the kingdom of Poland, and putting Poniatowski at the head of it as king; but your imbeciles of ministers would not consent. A hundred years hence I shall be praised, and Europe, especially England, will lament that I did not succeed. When they see the finest countries in Europe overrun and a prey to those northern barbarians they will say: "Napoleon was right." "

THE BOMBAY RACES, 1877.

FIRST DAY, SATURDAY, 10TH FEBRUARY.

THE Bombay Races commenced on Saturday, when there was a good attendance, though not a very good day's racing. The Byculla Club verandah and the big stand were crowded by ladies and gentlemen, and there was an unusually large gathering of the "great unwashed" round the course. There were five events on the programme, but three only produced contests. In one case, for the Hack Stakes, there was but one entry, and the walk-over in the Drawing-room Stakes was occasioned, as was mentioned on Saturday, by what owners considered unfair handicapping. While on the subject of the conduct of the races, it may be remarked that the attendance on Saturday, after so short a notice, was an indication of the interest taken by the Bombay public in racing matters, and of the success which might be secured to the annual meeting by more judicious, and perhaps a trifle less exclusive, management. The funds of the Club are at present reported to be in a deplorably low condition, and it is evident that there is "something rotten in the state of Denmark," and that some radical reform are urgently needed. The results of the three contested races on Saturday completely upset the calculations of the cognoscenti; the favourities were quite out of it, and the light weighted horses proved the winners. Aga Khan's Purse was the only race on which there were lotteries, and in the amalgamated lottery the winner, Nonpareil, sold for Rs. 10, while in Friday night's lottery he sold for Rs. 55. The prospectus contains fixtures for only three days' racing, but we understand there will be an extra day on Saturday next. The first race on Saturday was:—

"HIS HIGHNESS AGA KHAN'S PURSE."—Rs. 500. For all Maiden Arabs. Weight for age. Winners—once, 7 lbs; twice, 10 lbs.; oftener, 1 stone extra. Gallowways all wed 5 lbs. Horses landed after the 1st September 1875 allowed 4 lbs. Entrance 1st October 1876 Rs. 75, 1st January 1877 Rs. 150, when the Race will close. With a Sweepstakes of Rs. 50 for each horse declared to start. Three horses from different stables to start, or the Purse will be withheld. 1½ Mile.

All the horses came to the post and were got off on a capital start. Young Shere Ali went at once to the front and maintained his lead for about three parts of the distance, but he was unable to run it out to the end, and his rider, Brewty, pulled up. Nonpareil came in the easiest of winners from The Prince, the rest being nowhere. Time 3 min. 58 secs.

"THE GALLOWAY HANDICAP."—Rs. 300 from the Fund. For all Galloways. Entrance Rs. 50. Rs. 10 for not standing the Handicap Nominations to be sent in by 7 A.M. the day before the Race, the Handicap to be declared by noon, and acceptances to be sent in by 5 P.M. 1 Mile.

Syrian, in spite of his top weight, was a warm favourite. Chartreuse made the running over the first half of the distance, but fell a long way in rear before the pace was reached. Cherub won easily by nearly three lengths. Time 1 min. 56½ secs.

"THE DRAWING-ROOM STAKES."—Rs. 600 from the Fund. A Handicap for all Arabs that have never won a race where the added money has exceeded Rs. 750. Entrance Rs. 50. Rs. 10 for not standing the Handicap. Nominations to be sent in by 7 A.M. the day before the race, the Handicap to be declared by noon, and acceptances to be sent in by 5 P.M. Three horses from different stables to start, or only two-thirds of the added money will be given. 1½ Mile.

Oghaub was the favourite, though some fancied Saracen. Immediately after the start, Judge Advocate took up the running, followed by the rest in a body, with the exception of Nasib, who was five or six lengths in rear. Similar order was maintained over half the distance, Judge Advocate still keeping well ahead and Nasib gradually creeping up behind. The horses were lost to sight for a minute, and when they were next seen the order was slightly changed. Though Judge Advocate was still in front, and appeared to be going well, Nasib lay second and was running so easily that it was pretty evident he would win. At the far corner Hackney put on a spurt, and as the horses came into the straight, Judge Advocate, Nasib, and Kitano were all close together. Judge Advocate made a game struggle to retain his lead, but Nasib, whose jockey was riding hands down, gradually crept past, and won by over a length, Judge Advocate beating Kitano by a couple of lengths. Neither Oghaub nor Saracen were in it from start to finish. Time 3 min. 3 secs.; the last mile a trifle under even time.

The other events on the card were:—

"THE BYCULLA CLUB CUP."—Rs. 600 from the Fund. A Handicap for all horses that have never won a race and where the added money has exceeded Rs. 750. Entrance Rs. 50. Rs. 10 for not standing the Handicap. Nominations to be sent in by 7 A.M. the day before the Race, the Handicap to be declared by noon, and acceptances to be sent in by 5 P.M. BOMBAY.

THE JURY.—Gentlemen of both the Special and Common Jury are required to be in attendance at the High Court to-morrow morning (Tuesday) at 5 minutes before 19.

A NEW SOLICITOR.—Mr. Frederick Arthur Little has been admitted as an attorney, solicitor, and proctor of the High Court, Bombay. Mr. Little arrived from England a few days ago, and joins the firm of Messrs. Hearn and Cleveland.

ALTAMONT CHAPEL.—Wednesday, the 14th February being Ash Wednesday, there will be a celebration of Holy Communion on that day in Altamont Chapel at 7-30 A.M. This Chapel has been licensed by the Bishop, and there is a celebration of Holy Communion therein every Monday at 7-30 A.M.

PROSECUTIONS BY THE SOCIETY P. C. A.—Rama Mahadeo, a cartman, for working his bullock in Bhendy Bazaar, the animal being lame of the off hind leg, was fined Rs. 3.—Ittoo Succaram, quarryman, for working his bullock in Bazaar Gate Street, the animal being lame of the off hind leg, was fined Rs. 5.—Narayen Govinda, grass dealer, for working his bullock in Marked Road, the animal being lame of the near forelag, was fined Rs. 4.—Framjee Nowrojee, a rekha driver, for working his bullock near Cowasjee Patell Tank, the animal being lame of the near hind leg, was fined Rs. 3.

THE AFFILIATION CASE AMONG THE PARSEES.—On Saturday, at the Girgaum Police Court, before Mr. Dossibhoy Framjee, in the matter of the case Goolbai ex. Manockjee Limjee Manockjee, Mr. Hormusjee, solicitor, appeared and applied for the case to be postponed for hearing to Wednesday instead of Tuesday next, as it would not be convenient for counsel for the defence to appear on that day. The Magistrate said he had no objection to the postponement, and desired Mr. Hormusjee to inform the counsel on the opposite side of the change for date of the hearing of the case.

CHEATING.—Aga Mahomed Hoosein, a dealer in rose water and Persian carpets, &c. having his place of business at Bazaar Gate Street, Fort, appeared on Saturday before Mr. Nana Morojee, at the Fort Police Court, and obtained a warrant for the arrest of Hajee Ahmed Hajee Ismail, charging him with cheating in respect of property consisting of rose water and fancy carpets of the collective value of Rs. 152-11-0, alleged to have been purchased by accused on the 2nd instant and promising to pay for the same forthwith, whereas the accused shipped the said goods per steamship Puttiala for Madras, himself absconding from Bombay. The complainant has also obtained a search warrant for the seizure of the above goods on the steamer's arrival at Madras.

ASSAULT.—On Saturday last, a Parsee, named Sorabjee Jamsetjee, was sentenced by Mr. C.P. Cooper, the Senior Magistrate, to one month's hard labour in the Common Jail, and further to be bound over in the sum of Rs. 200 to keep the peace for assaulting on the evening previous a Parsee, named Perozeshah Byramjee, opposite the Punchayet Wady near the Fort. The assault was alleged to have been committed by accused at the instigation of a third party, and the defendant apprehended that he would have been punished by a fine being imposed upon him by the Magistrate, and that the third party would have supplied him with the amount, but defendant appeared to be quite perplexed when he had to pay the piper himself, undergoing a term of rigorous imprisonment.

THE LAST OF THE AURORA.—The man Richard William Marks who was carpenter on board the ship Aurora in June 1871 when she was wilfully destroyed, by fire and he with others was tried for the offence, and was sentenced by the High Court of Bombay to ten years' penal servitude, was pardoned the residue of his term on the first of January last by Her Majesty. On the occasion of his arrest a sum of money, nearly £500, was known to have been forwarded by him to his wife in England. This money was pounced upon by Government before Marks's wife could obtain, payment, and a correspondence took place between the Home Government and the Government of India, as to which of the two should be the legal claimant of the amount. After a deal of correspondence, the money was sent out to the Government of Bombay, to be dealt with as they pleased. The authorities then consulted the Solicitor General and Advocate General with regard to the disposal of this sum of money, and these two Government officials held that there was no prima facie evidence to show that the money did not belong to the prisoner Marks, and their advice to Government was that the money should be paid over to the prisoner on his release from prison after an application had been made in due form for its recovery. At the same time Government left it to any one else to establish better claims to it than those preferred by Marks. Some respectable firm at home took up the matter, but after a while wrote out that they were not prepared to contest the point and gave up all claim to the money. The Government then passed a resolution dated "Bombay Castle, 19th November 1871" to the effect that although "they were convinced that Marks had entered into possession of this money by fraud, yet the same could not be escheated to the Crown." The money was invested in Government 4 cent paper and the interest has been regularly forwarded to Mrs. Marks for her use. Since the release of Marks from prison, he has occupied himself about his spoil, and Government have from time to time put him off with excuses. On Friday, however, Marks on relating to the captain of the s. s. Arago his history and recounting his sufferings in Jail, obtained a passage by that steamer to Liverpool. On Marks acquainting the Government of this fact, matters were at once brought to a close, and Marks has received the order of Government to draw the money immediately on his arrival at home. From what we learn Marks behaved himself very well in prison, and his conduct since his release has been very exemplary. We believe also that Dr. Partridge interested himself very much in the welfare of Marks, and on his advice Marks left Bombay on Saturday morning for Liverpool in the s. s. Arago none the worse for wear, with a nice little sum of money in his possession with which he said he intended to start a public house at home.

CUTTING SUNDAY'S PAY.—Sunday is sometimes called a dies non, but the Bombay Government seem inclined to interpret the phrase literally as regards the Famine Relief operatives. They pay them daily what will just keep body and soul together, and give them nothing for the seventh day if this rule were applied to the salaries of the Government officials it would not matter much, for there would be little danger of their starving. There have been instances of suspended animation, but then the parties were hermetically enclosed in stone or wood; the art of suspending animation over the Sunday has not been discovered, and on the whole it seems probable that liberalization is not too far when the Sholapore strugglers for existence are told that Sunday is a dies non and there is consequently no provision made for their sustenance on that day.—Bombay Guardian.

EXTENSIVE ROBBERY IN THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH OFFICE AT KURRACHEE.—A robbery on an extensive scale was committed on the premises of the Indo-European Telegraph Department last Friday night, or at a very early hour on Saturday morning. The treasure chest, one of large dimensions, standing some five feet high, of peculiar construction, had currency and government promissory notes, and cash of the value of Rs. 5,860, abstracted from it. The currency and promissory notes of which the numbers were kept are of the value of Rs. 4,700. Notices have been issued to the several banks in India, and to native shroffs, and the Commissioner of Police in Bombay has been communicated with. The affair is enveloped in mystery. On the evening of Friday the chest was locked by Mr. Daniell, the Assistant Accountant, who always has possession of the key of it, which he at all times very carefully secures. The door of the chest, which, as we have already stated, is peculiarly constructed, cannot be opened unless each of four bolts underneath the box is turned several times, the turning of the last bolt opens the lock. It will, therefore, be seen that the chest is one that cannot easily be opened, and that to enable a person to open it he must have a knowledge of its construction, and this no outsider could be expected to possess. The conclusion come to by the Police is that some party or parties belonging to the Telegraph establishment are concerned in the robbery. The strangest part of the affair is that although the chest invariably held a large amount of money, not a single individual ever kept watch over it at night. The room in which it stands was never guarded, and as the room is at some distance from the quarters assigned for dwelling places to the members of the establishment, there could be no possibility of any noise made in the room being heard. Of the notes stolen Mr. Daniell, the Assistant Accountant, owned some of the value of Rs. 2,500. Mr. Bezonjee, the Inspector of Town Police, was throughout Saturday using his utmost endeavours to obtain a clue to the unravelment of the mystery which surrounds this robbery, but as yet all his efforts have proved unavailing.—Sindian, February 7.

THE BILLIARD CHAMPION AT ALLAHABAD.—Mr. John Roberts, Junior, the billiard champion, played his first match at Allahabad on Wednesday evening at the Railway Institute, before one of the worst audiences we imagine he can ever have performed to. The empty seats were, oddly enough, in some measure due to the interest his visit has excited here; for the two best amateurs were engaged on Wednesday in a private match to determine which of them should play the champion at the club. A considerable number of gentlemen who would otherwise have gone to the Railway Institute were thus drawn off. However, there are still two evenings, this and to-morrow, on which Allahabad has an opportunity of giving the distinguished traveller a better welcome. The game played on Wednesday evening hardly deserves minute description. It can rarely happen out of London that Mr. Roberts encounters an opponent good enough to put him on his mettle, so that we are not unduly disparaging his antagonist of the other night in saying that the game played, in spite of the points, had none of the interest of a contest. Moreover, there were few or no spots played by the champion. The table was not quite level we understand for one thing; for the rest Mr. Roberts seemed content to slap the balls about, making cannons, losers, hazards, or anything that came to hand, without trying to manage any long break. The longest he made in the evening was 44. The rest, considering who made them, are hardly worth enumerating; still every billiard player in the audience must have enjoyed the opportunity of studying the champion's form and style. The facility of his play is fascinating, and the finish of his cannons, when all three balls are brought together into a corner, was very pleasant to watch. Especially when he got the balls at the spot end of the table, so that in an emergency he could hole the red if that happened to suit the break, he played each cannon more in a way which made one fancy that he could have gone on for several hours together if he had cared to take pains. The lesson of his play for amateurs seems to us to be, that the importance of the drag cannot be overrated. The secret of the continuous cannons, indeed—one of the two secrets, that is to say—lies in the champion never allowing the balls to part. The other secret, of course, is,—that one should be Mr. Roberts. Mr. Roberts played his match at the N. W. P. Club on Thursday evening to a large, appreciative and cordial audience. His antagonist on this occasion, the artillery officer, to whom we alluded before as likely to give the champion more trouble than most amateurs, proved fully equal to the occasion, and scored the 350 points required to win him the game before M

ORRIM GNIDLOF ELPIRT TRIPLE FOLDING MIRROR.

☞ 9, RAMPART ROW, ☜

This new and very convenient form of Mirror is sure to become a general favourite. As the figure is reflected in it five times, a Lady is by its aid enabled to see herself perfectly, and without changing her position at all. It is made in a variety of neat styles and forms a pretty ornament to a room. When the Mirror is folded it is less than an inch in thickness. The small space that it occupies, and the safety with which it can be packed, will especially commend it for use in Camp.
